Founders Award

presented to

Pamela A. Havens

Director of Donor Relations
Hamilton College

Pamela Havens, The Association of Donor Relations Professionals is deeply appreciative of your resolute commitment to its members and programs. Since its inception, the association has benefited in myriad ways from your tireless volunteerism, boundless energy and inspired creativity.

Colleagues and friends describe your service to our organization with words like dedication, commitment, collaboration and leadership. Your highly effective organizational and communication skills have been put to good use in your role as Vice-President of the Board.

In a key role as webmaster, you worked diligently to make our site more attractive, user-friendly and functional, improving ADRP's visibility and accessibility. Your technical expertise in helping to encourage routine use of the Discussion Boards and creating the information exchange known as the Library are evidence of your commitment to engaging members and enriching their online experience.

From your earliest involvement as Co-Chair of the inaugural 2004 International Conference, your multi-faceted talents have contributed directly to the ongoing success of our annual conference.

Despite the demands of a challenging job, and in addition to your devotion to family, you can always be relied upon to pitch in and lend a hand. Whether service as chair of a standing committee, or serving as an ad-hoc commitment member, your willingness to problem solve and provide feedback to fellow Board members has been instrumental in helping the ADRP shape its agenda and achieve its goals.

You make us laugh, you make us think, you make us work, and sometimes you make us sing! Certainly, no one who attending the 2004 Syracuse conference will ever forget that memorable karaoke session.

Pam, you make us proud of our profession and professional association. Your energy and enthusiasm are contagious, and your compassionate nature reflects the essential values of Donor Relations and Stewardship. Hamilton College is truly blessed to have you as a vital member of its development program. On behalf of the membership, the ADRP Board of Directions is pleased and proud to honor you with the ADRP Founders Award.
